Dedico esta obra a todos los pueblos del Anáhuac y al Corazón, que su legado siga enseñándonos sus alegres tradiciones, y su paz.

¡Oh, tu Tzacol, Vitol! ¡míranos, escúchanos!
¡No nos dejes, no nos desampares,
oh dios, que estás en el cielo y en la tierra,
Corazón del Cielo, Corazón de la Tierra!
¡Danos nuestra descendencia, nuestra sucesión,
mientras camine el Sol y haya claridad!
¡Que amanezca, que llegue la aurora!
¡Danos muchos buenos caminos, caminos planos!
¡Que los pueblos tengan paz, mucha paz, y sean felices;
y danos buena vida y útil existencia!
¡Oh tú, Huracán, Chipi-Caculhá, Raxa-Caculhá,
Chipi-Nanauac, Raxa-Nanauac, Voc, Hunahpú, Tepeu, Gucumatz, Alom, Qaholom, Ixpiyacoc, Ixmucané, abuela del Sol, abuela de la luz!
¡Que amanezca y que llegue la aurora!
¡Oh, Corazón del Cielo, Corazón de la tierra!"

Notas explicativas:

Desde la tierra al éter es una suite de seis danzas para saxofón y piano.
Dicho modelo se entrelaza con los siguientes tres temas:

- 1) La experimentación musical sobre distintas permutaciones de una serie numérica y arquetípicamente antigua.
- 2) Los seis elementos alquímicos llevados a su decantación, o; un proceso de purificación (De la tierra al éter).
- 3) Una fiesta en peregrinación hacia una cosmovisión antigua, en donde los dioses son planetas y espectros solares, aquí, en el tiempo y el espacio.

Notes:

Desde la tierra al éter is a suite of six dances for saxophone and piano.
As a model, this suite is set along with these three subjects:

- 1) The musical experimentation of permutations on a proposed numerical and archetypal ancient serie.
- 2) The six alchemy elements through a process of decantation or a process of purification (From earth to ether).
- 3) A festive journey through ancient worlds where the gods are themselves stars as well as planets; time and space.

Desde la tierra al éter

Notas de interpretación:

Sigo inspirado en los dioses y tradiciones indígenas de mi región.

Recientemente leí el Popol Vuh maya; se me antojó escribir una nueva aventura para ofrecerles fiesta y ritual a éstas fuerzas protectoras que son muy antiguas en la región del Anáhuac.

Seis movimientos basan su lenguaje en una secuencia de intervalos, números y notas íntimamente ligados a la secuencia existente a partir de nuestro Sol y sus planetas hasta los siete tipos en espectro de estrellas. He trabajado arduamente en esto desde hace pasados catorce años y funciona. Mucho podrá ser encontrado, a su debida manera, en el acercamiento a mis recientes y diferentes obras que abordan éste fascinante tema 1, o incluso en el Calendario Azteca o en los números de las puertas de Uxmal, que son exáctamente los mismos. Ésta pieza es un nuevo experimento a partir de ésta misma serie pero transpuesta sobre las tres notas que no aparecen en la serie completa. (los griegos llamaban a estas tres notas ajenas las tres parcas (D#, E, Bb); Cloto, Laquesis y Atropos; los aztecas las llamaban las Tres esquinas del tiempo; Ilhuitl, Tochpan y Mixcóatl. Mezclando entonces, las series resultantes y sobreponiéndolas con la original, conseguí la armonía y el material.

La serie numérica, dual y palindrómica:

7 = Sol

789e26e50853235805e62e987 - 76530839269e0e96293803567

Performance notes:

I so much still feel very attracted to the gods and indigenous traditions of my region.

Recently I read the Popol Vuh of the Maya. I flirted with the idea of writing music for a new adventure.

This time, an adventure to veneer these ancient forces of the region of Anahuac.

These six movements for Saxophone and Piano reflect on a note/number sequence which appears to be intimately linked, as in resemblance, to the sequence of elements in our solar system and the seven spectral types of the stars. I have worked arduously on this throughout the last fourteen years. It works.

A lot of this ideas can be studied in my recent compositions as well as studies around the music of the spheres 1, and also on the reading the aztec calendar, circle by circle, or on counting the numbers in the doors at the city of Uxmal, which embody exactly the same number serie used here.

Desde la tierra al éter is a new work based on the same serie but transposed to the three notes that are never present in such intervalic serie (D#, E, Bb). According to the greeks, these were the three fates; Lachesis, Clotho & Athropos; the aztecs called them the Three Stones of Time; Ilhuitl, Tochpan & Mixcóatl.

Mixing and per-mutating these rows with the original, I found new and interesting harmonic and thematic materials.

The numerical row; a dual palindrome:

Where 7 = G

789e26e50853235805e62e987 - 76530839269e0e96293803567

Desde la tierra al éter

El contenido en la forma:

La transformación es el propósito. Hacia un mejor guerrero. Una peregrinación como las de Cervantes, de cambio.

La primera danza, es una fiesta brava que basa su contenido armónico en la superposición de las series propuestas. El movimiento melódico se basa en los arquetipos planetarios y celestes que cada número posee. Es el terreno. Tomé en libertad el dejar escritos en la partitura los nombres de los arquetipos; es decir; los nombres de los planetas, estrellas y personajes. El carácter de la fiesta es fuerte, como una fiesta primitiva. Una fiesta en la tierra de Tepeu-Gucumatz, el principio creador del hombre quién en su propia unión es Huracán la trinidad más antigua del maya (De acuerdo con la cuadratura de la serie y los arquetipos supuestos puede leerse como Saturno y Urano y Neptuno).

La segunda pieza hace alusión a alguna ciudad devorada por el mar. Agua, la vida marina y la ciudad bajo burbujas. La serie, por su característica palindrómica puede verse como un círculo o un cuadrado al doblarla simétricamente. Así, este movimiento comienza en un nuevo ángulo de dicho cuadrado (a partir del número 'dos' en lugar del 'siete'). Utilizo también un recurso al que llamo la suma del catorce, que es la suma de los extremos del cuadrado, o sea; la suma de los dos números que ocupan los dos lados de los ángulos hechos por la unión de dichas series.

La tercera danza es un monólogo que contiene la serie original y alguno que otro ornamento para embellecer ésta.

La cuarta danza es un tango melódico con un acompañamiento rítmico, aumentado y palindrómico que se repite.

La quinta danza está basada tonalmente en 'Sol' y contiene un juego palindrómico y canónico en las series.

La sexta danza es una meditación a través de la contemplación. También construido a partir de las mismas series; sus movimientos armónicos gravitatorios se entrelazan con las aperturas y clausuras de la serie interválica propuesta.

The mare in its form:

The purpose: transformation. Towards a better warrior. A voyage like the ones by Cervantes; change thru adventure.

The first dance is a celebration that bases its harmonic content in the superposition of the proposed series. The land. The melodic movement is based on the celestial and planetary archetypes; precisely; the names of planets and stars. I took the liberty of writing each archetype on the score to facilitate this understanding. The character of the piece is strong as a primitive festivity. It is a festivity for Tepeu- Gucumatz, creator of man and in its own union the most ancient trinity of the Maya.

According to the squareness of the serie and the archetypes proposed it can be said of Saturn y Uranus & Neptune.

The second dance makes an allusion to a city devoured by an ancient sea. Water, marine life and a city below all. The serie, because of its palindrome characteristic, can be seen as a circle or as a square when bent at the 4 corners. This movement starts at the opposite angle of the square (number 2 as opposed to 7).

I use a resource that I call the sum of fourteens, which is the sum of the opposite sides of the whole serie when bent.

The third dance is a monologue that contains the original serie and a few ornaments for the purpose of elegance.

The fourth dance is a melodic tango with a continuous rhythmic and palindromic accompaniment in augmentation.

The fifth dance is based tonally in 'G' and contains a palindromic and canonic game in its series.

The sixth dance is a meditation through contemplation. It is also built with the same intervalic serie. It moves twice presenting aperture and closure on the proposed intervalic serie.
